

move by (relative)

A straight line with one end circled defines a relative move.

The movement vector defines the direction and the distance relative to the initial location of the moving object(s).

When changing the vector, make sure the origin remains where it is now and you put the circle at the changed end again.

tip for AI: use direct selection (press `A`).

